

Camp Awki 2012

5th Jan 2012 rolled around so fast for the Burn Support Groups Annual Children's Camp. I arrived at the hotel where everyone was meeting for the bus ride down to "Rotovegas"

It was so good seeing our little family together again, and to welcome some new children and parents to the group, everyone was so excited and rearing to go. We arrived in the afternoon and spent the rest of the day settling in and exploring.

The activities at camp were great and were run well by our camp host Adam. Each child had the opportunity to take part in all the activities which included; Kayaking, mud run, go karts, Burma trail, water slide, magic carpet ride and the favourite by far horse riding. A lot of the children had never done horse riding before, so it was nice being able to watch their little faces light up during the trek.

Something I will not be forgetting in a hurry is my bail off the famous Magic Carpet ride with, Haze, Becks and Natasha. It was indeed very sore and left me breathless and in pain for the day!! All good fun though, and I was back out trying to beat the kids in the mud run the next afternoon and failed miserably at winning ☺

We decided on the Camp Awki name, as Awki means to cradle or embrace in your arms. Which I think fits perfectly ☺

Monday came too fast and it was time to go home, everyone was a bit sad – but knowing there will be another one in 2013 is something they can look forward too. An amazing weekend spent with some very amazing people. Camp Mama misses everyone ☺
